Black Lives

Black lives matter,
but the privileged have got the power.
We show pride and we make it shower.
We have to end this streak,
and show them we aren't weak.
We have to speak, speak so loud, to show
we're proud of how we look...
it's not fair what they took.
We all have a race.
This is the place.
We don't need space.
We're all human after all...
Why do the privileged think they're so tall?
Why do we have to fall?
We aren't done, we need to unite,
to end this fight...and show them the light.
